Sustainability and AI

Sustainability in IT is slowly gaining recognition in Germany but often competes with other business priorities. While there is growing awareness of the environmental impact of data centers